Managing Director and founder of wise-owl.com

Phillip Shamieh, Managing Director and founder of wise-owl.com, has been cited as “one of the top ten share market experts in Australia.”

Phillip has over 14 years experience in financial markets and has developed a strong reputation based on his success. Named a “Money Making Machine” by Australia’s leading television network, Channel 7, Phillip is renowned as one of Australia’s most prominent and influential stock market experts.

Phillip founded wise-owl.com in early 2001 after climbing the ranks as a senior analyst, advisor and trader at various financial institutions, including Nestle Australia and Hudson Securities. He has been responsible for advising and managing millions of dollars for retail and institutional clients, and also brings strong corporate finance experience in capital raising and listing companies on the stock exchange.

Under Phillip’s direction and leadership, wise-owl.com has rapidly grown to become Australia’s leading independent investment research firm for thousands of retail investors, as well as some of the world’s largest financial institutions including E*TRADE, Westpac, St George Bank, Macquarie Bank and the Australian Securities Exchange, to name a few.

Phillip is passionate about bringing investors the best opportunities and as such, wise-owl.com has an enviable track record of producing consistently profitable returns across the entire market spectrum.

Such outstanding returns have resulted in Phillip’s market timings and calls being highly publicised. Phillip was amongst the first to call the demise of the property market in 2003, the emerging equities bull market that followed, and in particular the current boom in commodities. These views seemed controversial at the time, but have since confirmed Phillip’s position as one of the leading minds in the market.

Phillip’s success has lead to numerous high profile TV appearances, including interviews on Channel 7’s Today Tonight and Channel 9’s Good Morning Australia. Phillip is also regularly interviewed by Bloomberg TV and Sky Business News, and has been asked to provide his expert advice and commentary for almost every major newspaper and finance magazine in Australia.
